Frontier Wealth Management acquires Highwater Wealth

Denver, CO & Kansas City, MO — February 10, 2020 — Frontier Wealth Management has officially acquired Highwater Wealth Management, located in Glendale, Colorado, making it the firm's second Denver area location. The acquisition took effect on February 1, 2020. DeVoe & Company, a leading consulting firm and investment bank to RIAs, introduced the firms and supported Frontier in the transaction.

Nick Blasi, Chief Executive Officer of Frontier Wealth Management and Highwater's President, Dickson Griswold, agreed to the transaction in November 2019. "We are excited to welcome Dickson and the entire team to Frontier. Highwater's approach to comprehensive financial wellness closely mirrors our own, and the combined expertise of both teams will help us better serve our clients," said Nick Blasi.

"Joining Frontier provides a greater support and diverse expertise for our clients, without losing the boutique experience," explained Dickson Griswold, "The two firms' missions are similar in their focus on simplifying financial complexities. We feel strongly that this will benefit all involved."

Clients of the former Highwater Wealth Management firm now have access to expanded in-house services provided by Frontier, including risk assessment, tax planning and preparation, investment management and corporate retirement planning. The acquisition adds new growth and professional expertise to Frontier, in addition to its Bench of Specialists – a diverse group of industry experts who focus on a multitude of areas of financial well-being.

"Dickson has done a great job building a successful firm and has a fantastic depth of experience on his team," said Nick Blasi, "We are looking forward to combining their strengths with ours, incorporating everyone's knowledge into a winning strategy that remains focused on our clients."
